SAM JONES, REVIVALIST.

His Mode of Fighting the Devil—Pithy and Pointed Projectiles.

Rev. Sam Jones, the noted Southern revivalist, is now fighting the devil in Toronto, where crowds of people flock to hear him twice a day. To use a slang term, which by the way Sam often does himself, "he's a daisy." The press describes him as an able public speaker, moving to laughter or to tears at will, and throwing out red-hot shot all the time. A general idea of his style can be gathered from the following expressions and sentiments, taken from his first sermon in Toronto:

"It takes less sense to criticise than to do anything else in the world. Some of our finest critics are in the lunatic asylums of America.

"I don't want the indorsement of your ministers. I wouldn't endorse you until I saw what you could do. But if a Newfoundland dog came to my town and brought the glad news that he had won one thousand souls for God I would invite him to my house. If the devil will repent and start saving souls I will indorse him.

"Of course my methods are peculiar. Some fellows boast about being self-made men. I'm not. God made me from the hat to the heel, and I'm glad of it. I want to talk naturally to you, not like some preachers, who have one voice for the pulpit and one for the street. How would it be if I went into a store and said: "Oh, thou great merchant of Toronto, I want to see a pair of your divinely colored hose?" "Why, they would run me out.

"Pardon me for being natural in the pulpit. Seventeen years ago I got married, and if my wife can put up with me for seventeen years, surely you can for three weeks. You can't hurt my feelings though. I left them at home. I was afraid to bring them along for fear they might be hurt.

"Reputation is like a glove. You may take it off or put it on or rend it to pieces and there is not much loss; but character is the hand itself, scar it and you scar a vital part."

"I never speak more than an hour. When you get enough every door is open and the sidewalk is safe. Really, we wouldn't have missed you if you hadn't come. Don't go away and say that man bored you. Go when you get tired. It's hard to talk an hour and not bore some greenhorn.

"I always had a most concentrated, consolidated hatred of humbugs, and of all the eternal humbugs the religious one is the worst humbug on earth.

"Show me a church without revivals, and I will show you one that looks and lives like a deserted graveyard. The only way such a church lives at all is when one of our revivals overruns and fills their pond.

"Stagnation! stagnation! stagnation! it's the last station this side of damnation.

"It isn't the lying, and stealing, and crime that is sapping the church, it is the tide of worldliness. God pity the mother that has got a lot of daughters that she is trying her best to stick off in the world, in spite of the devil.

"I'd rather be the father of a boy who knew Jesus, and could only plow a straight furrow, than be the father of the brightest genius on earth projected into this world a godless wretch. The man who leaves nothing but money to his children leaves them bankrupt.

"Bar-rooms you will have, whisky you will have, and I'll tell you why: this is a free country, and you have what you want. If you didn't want it you wouldn't have it.

"I told a saloon-keeper if my boy Paul wants a drink of whisky, take him out in the back yard and chop his head off. If you murder him, at least his soul will go to heaven.

"Prohibition is like the law against murder. That law don't prohibit murder, but you have the fun of hanging them as you go along, and fun is the next best thing to religion.

"Whenever I see my wife hasn't such a husband as she should have I go to praying right away.

"I'd rather be the worst old sinner in town and be liberal than be a starched, stingy, old religious wretch.

"The worst three men in the world are the fool, the stingy man and the lazy man. I've seen the Lord work a long time with these and then fail.

"The biggest joke Satan ever played was to take children to the grave of their father and say, this was a miser, he would skin a flea for its hide and tallow.

"I want to get into Heaven in such a way that nobody will be surprised to see me there. Some of us, if we live as we are living, may get to Heaven, but if we do people up there will say, 'Glad to see you, old boy, but really I didn't expect it.'

"I don't want to be such kind of a Christian as was the man whose son said his father was a Baptist, but he wasn't busy at it much.

"I want to talk about building character to-night. If I was going to build I would put law on top, conscience as the second rail, will below conscience, and affection beneath them all. Then I would let the law shine through the conscience, subjugating the will and allowing affection to enwrap everything.

"A man is not a sinner because he is an infidel, but he is an infidel because he is a sinner.

"A man said to me, 'Jones, science is about to demonstrate that there is no hell.' I said, 'when is the exploring party going to get back.' He said he didn't know, and I told him to tell me when he heard, for I wanted to be there when the report was presented.

"The greatest crown ever given to a Canadian church is a game preacher that will tell the truth in spite of his congregation or the devil either. A church that asks concerning its new pastor, is he careful, is he prudent, simply asks is he a pusillanimous puppy, and can we run him.

"It isn't the ragged, dirty scum of sin that is doing the harm in Toronto, it's the gilded sin. You fellows with money and position, who set the example of blaspheming on the street. You've got a preacher before you now that cares no more for you than for the meanest laborer or shoeblack. What are you, anyhow? Let me take away your wealth and you couldn't be elected dog pelter in your own town.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. John F. Harvey, a respected resident of Wellington, was found dead in his bed on Thursday. Deceased was a member of Unity Encampment and Harmony Lodge of Odd Fellows, and his funeral occurred on Sunday under the auspices of that society. He was 34 years of age, and his parents reside at Shawnee, Ohio. An inquest was held by Dr. Clumess and a verdict of death from heart disease was returned.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS.

Important Resolutions Adopted at th Grand Lodge I. O. G. T.

This body continued its sessions at Nanaimo on Friday. In the forenoon session the election of G. L. officers was the first and principal order of business. The installation was conducted by the Deputy R. W. G. C. T., L. F. Bauman, of Victoria.

THE OFFICERS

thus intalled for the current years are as follows: P. G. C. T., Rev. Bro. Hemlaw; G. C. T., Rev. Bro. J. A. Wood; G. V. T., Sister S. Cummings; G. Sec., Bro. S. Gongh; G. A. Sec., Bro. Godfrey; G. Treas., Sister Bailey; G. Chaplain, Bro. Rev. C. Bryant; G. Marshall, Bro. Keith; G. Assistant Marshall, Bro. King; G. Sentinel, Bro. Losee; G. Guard, Bro. Pike. In the afternoon session very important legislation which will materially facilitate and improve the general working of the order, was enacted.

POLITICAL ACTION.

The committee on political action submitted the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas we believe that we can never attain the total prohibition of the liquor traffic until we have in power both Provincial and National Governments backed by an earnest and aggressive political party, which has total prohibition as its avowed policy, and

Whereas we believe the time has come when the I. O. G. T. should be heard definitely on this matter. Therefore be it

Resolved, "That in view of the past inaction among temperance workers in this Province affecting the election of members of Municipal Councils and of Parliament to both the Provincial and Dominion Legislatures, we respectfully but urgently request the Dominion Alliance Executive and other temperance organizations in this province to put forth immediate and determined efforts to secure the election of good, tried temperance men, and that no support be given by temperance men at the various elections, Municipal, Provincial or Dominion, to candidates who will not pledge themselves to the earnest endeavor to the absolute casting out of liquor from our Dominion, and to give their aid to no party or individual in any such party who will not undertake to aid in every way in their power the accomplishment of these objects."

SABBATH DESECRATION.

The following resolution was also adopted: Resolved, that viewing with alarm the violence done to the moral and religious sense of the community by the running of Sunday trains by railroad companies and by the Sunday traffic of steamboat companies, we wish to express our strong abhorrence of these acts of Sabbath desecration as calculated to cause unnecessary toil and to weaken the moral obligations which ensures the well-being of society and beg to request the various railroad and steamboat companies to discountenance and discontinue the practices herein censured, out of regard to the principles and feelings of a professedly Christian people;

It was further resolved that the services as lectures of Hon. J. B. Finch and others be procured to visit every community in the province. The thanks of the Grand Lodge in closing were tendered to the E. & N. R. Co., the P. S. N. Co., the C. P. N. Co., and the owners of the steamer Robert Dunsmuir for their generous reductions of rates.

INLAND NEWS.

[From the Sentinel.]

Mr. E. H. Wood, of Okanagan, returned from Ontario on Saturday last, accompanied by his bride. The Sentinel extends congratulations.

The railway company will continue to charge seven cents per mile from Moody to Canmore, and refuse to issue second class tickets; and still charge one dollar and eighty cents per hundred pounds from Moody to Kamloops, a distance of 238 miles, while the through rate from Montreal to Moody is only a trifle higher. It is well known that a person intending to go from Kamloops to Montreal can save from thirty to forty dollars by purchasing his ticket at Moody, and, as a consequence, nine out of the ten of those going east got their tickets at the latter point. Last week an old man over sixty years of age, not over-burdened with this world's goods, and to whom thirty dollars was an object, sent to Moody and got his ticket; but lo, and behold! when he went to the station to get his trunk checked, he was told in language more forcible than polite, to get his trunk checked where he bought his ticket.

The C. P. R. round-house, situated in the east end, nearly opposite the old station, and is semi-circular in shape with a frontage of 180 feet, extending to 505 feet in rear and 72 feet high. It contains twelve stalls with brick pits. The contractor, Mr. Thos. Tompkins, also has the contract for the company's boarding house. The round-house at Donald, as well as those at Beaver, Rogers Pass and Albert Canyon, were also erected by Mr. Tompkins, and we understand that in every case he has given perfect satisfaction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

SUPERINTENDENT BLOOMFIELD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Most people will have noticed the communication signed "Citizen" and headed "the police," in yesterday's Colonist. The leopard, we all know, cannot change his spots, and even under a new management, the Colonist it would seem, cannot mend its ways. Underhand attacks, generally published as imaginary communications, was a cheap characteristic of the Higgins' rule. I wonder whether this venomous little production is the last relic of the late proprietor. Everyone knows that the Superintendent is no favorite with the worthy chairman of the police committee, and no one need be told how persistently Mr. Higgins vents his spleen through the columns of his paper.

It is not my intention to defend Mr. Bloomfield from what every right-minded man must consider an uncalled for and unmanly attack. If there is one quality for which the Superintendent deserves credit, it is for the intelligence with which he conducts the most difficult part of his duty, the criminal prosecutions, which in every other city of the same size as Victoria, are put into the hands of a professional man.

It is about time that these anonymous attacks upon public officers were put a stop to. If anyone has any complaint to formulate, let him make a distinct accusation. Letters of the description written by "Citizen" are not a credit to the writer and still less to the paper that publishes them. MACNAB STUART.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 7.—It is reported that a woman by the name of Rebecca Day, who has a bad reputation, lived in a house owned by one Nathan Stevens, in the township of Bastard. For some time Stevens has been anxious to get rid of her, and has repeatedly offered a reward to any one who would put her out of his house. Recent reports say he offered some parties $10 and a gallon of whiskey for doing the job. Last night Mrs. Day was aroused by three masked men, who went into the house and commenced throwing the furniture out of doors. She instantly sent for her son-in-law, Burton Carr, who lived about three-quarters of a mile away, to come and help her. In a few minutes Carr arrived, and while trying to stop the masked intruders was shot by one of them. The ball, which was fired from an army gun such as is used by Canadian volunteers, entered Carr's head near his mouth and came out through the side of his neck, killing him instantly.

AMERICAN HAPPENINGS.

AN AWFUL DISASTER.

250 Lives Lost at Sabine Pass—30 Square Miles Deluged.

GALVESTON, Oct. 17.—The following special to the Associated Press from Orange, Texas, gives the latest particulars regarding the great disaster at Johnson Bayou and Sabine Pass. The steamer Emily P. returned at 4 o'clock this afternoon, bringing 160 additional sufferers from Johnson Bayou, who are entirely destitute of everything that is necessary to sustain life. They were received at the wharf by a relief committee, who are doing all in their power to make them comfortable. Most of them are women and children. The Emily P. will return to the Bayou immediately, and bring back 50 more persons who are waiting there, and who are now homeless and without clothing. We now have to take care of 210 persons from that section.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 17.—The refugees from the flooded districts about Sabine Pass continue to arrive on every small craft that comes up the river. It is estimated here, by those who have been over the scenes of destitution at Sabine Pass, Johnson Bayou and Taylor Bayou, that the death list will exceed 250 souls. Eighty-five corpses have been recovered and buried around Johnson's Bayou, and 54 bodies thus far have been buried at Sabine, while 66 persons are still missing at Sabine, and these are of course dead, as it would be impossible for any human being to survive thus long in the swamp and lagoon without food or shelter. An examination of the country back of Sabine and in the immediate vicinity of Beaumont shows that salt water came back from the coast fully forty miles through the swamps, and hundreds of thousands of acres are still submerged by the water that was forced back and has no outlet. This fact makes the search for bodies very difficult. Carcasses of thousands of drowned cattle, hogs, horses and fowls are strewn everywhere, and clouds of sea gulls and buzzards hover over the desolate country for an area of thirty miles. It is known that the number of sufferers around Johnson's Bayou, who have lost everything, will reach 120, while the Sabine sufferers number 300, one half of whom are now in Beaumont. Parties who returned to-day from Johnson's Bayou district, say that sixty persons are still missing there, and searching parties have almost reached the conclusion that many of those were drowned and their bodies carried out to sea by the receding waves.

THE SOUTHERN SCOURGE.

Yellow Fever Appears in Mississippi—Strict Quarantine Regulations.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—The state board of health, having received information of the prevalence of yellow fever at Biloxi, eighty miles distant, and of the death there of a number of persons from this cause, held a special meeting to-day to consider the matter. Statements before the board showed that an itinerant mechanic, named Sumpter, who came from Biloxi, died yesterday at Mississippi City. Physicians pronounced Sumpter's disease Biloxi fever, but one nurse said he vomited up "black stuff." Dr. Walkem made the alarming statement which had been coming from people at Biloxi, that nearly every family there had cases of fever. He was told there existed up to last night 270 cases, and that for the past two weeks people were being buried quietly at night, and that in the daytime bodies were laid away surreptitiously. Mr. Charles Marshall, Superintendent of Louisville and Nashville Railroad, stated that he was told that Dr. Lemon had pronounced the cause of his wife's death at Biloxi as yellow fever. Marshall had received a telegram from the station agent, which bore the information that there were 30 or 40 cases at Biloxi and that Drs. Lemon and Maybine had advised about the nature of the fever, Dr. Lemon adhering to the belief that it was unquestionably yellow fever. The board thereupon issued a notice to the officials of Biloxi, declaring strict quarantine against it.

A VILLAGE CREMATED.

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 17.—A fire which started in a small frame stable about 7 o'clock to-night, swept over the entire business portion of the village. A brisk wind from the southeast spread the flames rapidly, while the inhabitants stood by powerless to prevent the distraction, as the dry frame buildings burned too fiercely to be checked by the small fire apparatus. Assistance has been asked for from Sheffield and Wilmington, Del., but at a late hour to-night it seems as though the entire village would be destroyed. It is impossible to estimate the loss, but a rough guess places it at over a million dollars. Stores with their contents were licked up by the flames, and the streets to-night were full of people whose houses have been destroyed. Midnight—The fire is still burning fiercely, and there seems to be no hope of staying its progress. No lives lost so far.

SCHOONER AND CREW LOST.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 17.—During a storm on Lake Erie last night, a schooner with distress signals hoisted, was sighted several miles out. The men were in the rigging and the vessel appeared to be going to pieces. The sea was running high and no attempt was made at a rescue until this morning, when no trace of the vessel could be seen. All day pieces of wreck have been coming in, but no bodies have been washed ashore. The name of the schooner is not known.

KILLED IN A SALOON.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 17.—Four drunken laborers entered Geo. Keefer's saloon to-day and raised a row. They were ordered out and responded by smashing all the windows and furniture. The proprietor shot Wm. Daley and Jno. Burns, and their companions fled. Both men are mortally wounded. Keefer walked to the police station and gave himself up.

STEAMER LOST.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 17.—Advices from Nassau report the total loss of the British steamer Juliette, on Mingerbread Ground, Cohamas, bound from Cardiff for New Orleans with a cargo of rails, which are now being saved and taken to Nassau.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Henry Zeigler to-day shot his wife three times, and then cut his own throat with a knife and fired a bullet through his head. He expired almost instantly; the woman will recover.

THE PACKERS WIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The great strike at the stock yards is practically settled. Delegate Barry, of the Knigths of Labor, states he will have an interview with the packers this afternoon, and would then tell them the men were prepared to work ten hours a day, as demanded by the packers. He should use every endeavor to have the packers discharge all the non-union men they have brought in, but he would not keep out, he said, even if this request was refused. Armour & Co. say they will not discharge any men they have brought in, and that as far as they are concerned they felt almost independent of the strikers. They killed five hundred cattle yesterday with their new men, and expect to kill 600 to-day.

THE BOODLE ALDERMEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—When the case of ex-Alderman Henry S. Sayles, the latest addition to the American colony in Canada, was called to the court of general sessions to-day, the habitues and officials were much surprised at the presentation of a check for $25,000 to Judge Cowing by bondsman Sol. Sayles. Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of ex-Alderman McCabe's attorney, motion made by the District Attorney to have the trial set down for the 21st was granted. McCabe was then committed to the tombs to await trial.

A PUGILIST DEAD.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—Mike McCool, well known in pugilistic circles, died this morning at the Charity Hospital, of kidney disease and complications resulting therefrom. He was 49 years old.

A NAPOLEONIC PRINCE.

DENVER, Oct. 17.—A Prince Louis Napolean arrived here to-night from Salt Lake and remained in the city an hour. At 11 o'clock he took a special on the Burlington road for Chicago.

A TERRIBLE GALE.

The Storm on the British Coast—Enormous Loss of Life and Shipping.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The latest reports show that the effects of the recent storm on the south and west coasts were terrible. A Norwegian bark foundered off Tintagel, and her entire crew, consisting of 15 persons, perished. Ten bodies were washed ashore on Glamorgan coast.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Later reports have been received from all parts of the Kingdom, telling of the disastrous effects of the hurricane. The British ship Mallenv was wrecked in Bristol Channel, and twelve persons drowned. The shore is strewn with wreckage and bodies washed ashore have been stripped of valuables by wreckers. The Norwegian bark Fredericksland was wrecked off Hadston and 19 persons drowned. The bark Alliance was also wrecked off Hadston and four lives lost. Other persons on board were saved by a life boat. Another large bark was seen to be in terrible distress, the crew being huddled together on deck. The vessel foundered this morning, and it is believed that from 12 to 20 persons were drowned. The gale prevented people on shore from rendering any assistance. The cries of the doomed men were heard distinctly by those who were watching the vessel from the shore.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The following additional particulars of the damage caused by the recent storm have been received: The British steamer Artos, Capt. Whittlesey, from New York, September 29, for Bourdeaux, has been lost on Point Eldela Conbrie, at the northern mouth of the Girronde. The wreckage from the steamer and part of her cargo, are washing ashore. The British steamer Kate, Capt. Durkie, from Savannah, Sept. 29, for Liverpool, arrived at Queenstown disabled. She shipped immense quantities of water, and broke twenty-five steam pipes. Her decks were much damaged. The Norwegian bark, owner Captain Nicleson, from Mobile, Aug. 14, has been towed to Cowes. She lost her sails and three of her crew died of ague, and others are suffering from the malady. The British bark Ruthland, Capt. Casey, from Quebec, Sept. 15, for Greenwich, was abandoned off Lundy Island; the mate and carpenter were drowned; the other members of the crew were rescued and landed at Falmouth.

GEOLOGIST DEAD.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—Col. Chas. Whittlesey, the distinguished geologist and scholar, died this morning in his 79th year.

THE CHOLERA.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—The cholera returns for yesterday are: Treiste, 16 new cases and 3 deaths; Pesth, 39 new cases and 20 deaths.

HANLAN DISAPPOINTED.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—William Beach, the oarsman, has sailed from Plymouth on his way home.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Esq., S. M.)

A. McIntosh, arrested by Constables Sheppard and Smith, and charged with being a vagrant; fined $10, which was paid.

Hans Neilson arrested by Constables Walsh and Smith, and charged with fighting; discharged.

N. P. Neilson arrested by the same officers, and charged with fighting and assaulting the officers in the execution of their duty; fined $15 and $1 costs or one month with hard labor; the fine was paid.

Mary Burns, a vagrant, summoned by Officer Walker; fined $50 to be paid in one week or in default three months imprisonment.

BIG BEND.

A private letter to this office says that business at Farwell has been very slow this year. Better results were expected from Big Bend, but it is the old story—expectations were too high. On French Creek nearly $700 was taken out of five buckets of dirt, but for some unaccountable cause the mine was then shut down. There will be a great deal of work done next year, as all the claim owners are now in a fair position to commence operations as soon as the snow disappears.

IS BEACH COWARDLY?

Hanlan, the ex-champion has been disappointed in getting a race on with Beach, his Australian conqueror, Beach having sailed for home. His conduct to say the least, is in marked contrast to that of the Canadian champion, who went all the way to Australia to accommodate the scullers at the antipodes. Beach cannot well escape the charge of cowardice.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

A NEWSPAPER DEAL.

The change of the management of the Colonist, rendered necessary by the entrance of the proprietor, Mr. D. W. HIGGINS, into the Legislature, and which has been mooted for some time, was consummated on Saturday. ELLIS & Co., have become the publishers. The head of the new firm, Mr. W. H. ELLIS, formerly city editor of the Colonist, is a promising journalist, and brings into the management a professional enthusiasm in the work that seldom suffers defeat. Under the new management — which is well understood to be merely nominal and apparently a temporary convenience — our esteemed contemporary can continue to receive government patronage, while the proprietor will, to a considerable extent, be relieved of the cares and responsibilities of journalism. Although we can scarcely hope for any radical change of policy, or a greater liberality in the discussion of public questions, we incline to think that the tone of the editorial columns will be elevated and improved. So believing we extend to the gentlemen composing the management our best wishes for their success.

"IN A DAY OR TWO."

"Developments in a day or two will show that the prophet of the TIMES, like Wiggins, is altogether out in his predictions."—Colonist.

Our predictions were that the estimable Mr. DUCK, with a single eye to the public interest, would continue to hold office until the House met, when the purely nominal duties of the office would be discharged by the Provincial Secretary. "Developments in a day or two" will show that we are "altogether out in our predictions." Higgins, not Wiggins, is the prophet. But, seriously, what are the "developments ?" Is the ministry in a body going to resign to give place to the "third party," or is something more disastrous still going to happen ? Perhaps the Premier, whose garrulity has become offensive, the amiable Attorney-General, who feels like a fish out of water, and the Hon. JOHN, who is ("D. V.") anything that pays, have concluded to dissolve and rearrange the partnership upon some other basis. Possibly it is proposed to let Mr. DUCK—who will not step down and out—run the machine alone ? Or, terrible thought, is HIGGINS—now that he has unloaded the Colonist—going to discharge the whole shebang and run things to suit himself. But, we give it up, and will await, with what patience we can command, the "developments that are to come in a day or two."

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

All the British Columbian members—certainly the two representatives from Victoria—voted for the Dominion Franchise Bill, an act which, so far as this province was concerned, was decidedly retrogressive. British Columbia enjoyed universal sufferage, and Messrs. BAKER and SHAKESPEARE, mindful more of their voluntary allegiance to party than of the interests of their constituents, gave it their support, although the thick-and-thin followers of Sir JOHN were kicking on every side. As pointed out by a contemporary, one after another the several provinces, as represented in the House, revolted against this or that clause of the bill, and nothing but an unsparing use of the party lash, coupled with ominous threatenings, brought them into line. But, the bill, though hardly one year in force, is condemned by those who supported its passage, and will be repealed or amended out of recognition at an early date. The Mail condemns it, the men who voted for it against their will condemn it, and although a certain amount of party use has been made of it, it has failed to benefit the government in the direction and to the extent expected. In short about $1,000,000 have been thrown into the gutter in furtherance of an improper intention and to work a useless and mischievous act. Candidates at the coming general election should be pledged to assist in its repeal, and no working man who values the inalienable right of man—not of wealth—will aid in the election of any candidate not in favor of its repeal.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

The proposed line of Pacific steamers and the sub-marine cable will undoubtedly bring us into closer trade relations with the little kingdom out in the ocean, and it is certainly no imaginary dream on the part of the Canadian Gazette to anticipate that our relations with the Sandwich Islands—or, to give them their more dignified name, the Kingdom of Hawaii—will before long become more or less intimate. At present Canada is probably about as well known to the tropical Hawaiians as is the North Pole, while Canadians can claim little or no personal acquaintance with their Pacific neighbors. However, Mr. SANDFORD FLEMING'S cable scheme and the Pacific mail steamship service must, if carried out, as all Canadians must hope they will, quickly change all this, for it is one part of these plans to make Sandwich Islands a calling station on the line of telegraphic and steamship connection with the Antipodes. The Hawaiians are now eager to improve their relations with foreign States, and especially with the North American continent, to which their kingdom stands in the position of the nearest important group of islands on the Pacific side. The present reciprocity treaty with the United States will not, it is thought, be renewed for another period of seven years; and it is natural, therefore, that, seeing Canada's recent developments, a watchful eye should be cast in her direction to ascertain if an alternative interchange of commodities may not be established with the Dominion. The London Times tells us that negotiations have been opened through the Colonial office with the government of the Dominion, and proposals for a treaty of reciprocal free trade between Canada and Hawaii have been not unfavorably entertained both by the Colonial office and by the Dominion Government. The affair is, it is further pointed out, one which concerns England almost as much as Canada, since the development of the Pacific trade of the Dominion and the opening up of communications with the East along the Canadian Pacific route are matters of direct Imperial interest. The exports from Hawaii to the United States, in 1885, reached as much as $8,958,000. This could seemingly be almost as well exchanged in Canada as in the United States for the commodities that the Sandwich Islanders want, and it is therefore to be hoped that the present negotiations may be brought to a satisfactory issue.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Bulgarian question may be still further complicated by the candidature of the DUKE OF EDINBURGH for the throne. An official of that kingless country has announced that the DUKE has been proposed as the candidature of England, Austria and Italy, but the report is altogether incredible. The DUKE'S wife is a sister of the Czar, but not an extravagant admirer of her brother. Prince Alfred would probably elect to remain a captain in the Queen's "navee" rather than assume the responsibilities of ruler of that distracted country.

CANADIAN Gazette: Though the PRINCE of WALES is prevented from visiting Australasia next year, as it was hoped he would do, to open the Adelaide Exhibition, there is reason to hope that an early opportunity will be taken by his Royal Highness to carry out so desirable an intention. Had it been possible, we are told, the PRINCE "would have experienced very great pleasure" in accepting the invitation. We only refer to the subject to again urge that, when the intended visit does take place, Canada and the Canadian Pacific route, in which the PRINCE is known to take a lively interest, should not be omitted from the itinerary.

THE assessment of Toronto has increased by $10,841,278 during the past year and exemptions $945,495, making a total increase of $11,986,353. It is estimated that there are now 127,000 inhabitants without including the suburb of Parkdale which is likely to be annexed before the year is out. The Globe has no doubt that the population will be at least 140,000 next year when Parkdale will be included. At the time of the last Dominion census in 1881 Toronto's population was 86,415. If the present rate of progress is maintained, which there is little reason to doubt will be the case, the city will have doubled in population when the next Dominion census is taken.

THE public debt of the United States at October 1 amounted to $1,367,549,567, according to the Treasurer's statement, though on the old form of reckoning it would be only $1,274,728,153. Treasurer JORDON adds to liabilities $65,626,374 for bonds issued to Pacific railroads and interest thereon, and deducts from assets $27,195,039 for fractional silver coin, making a total constructive addition of $92,821,413 to the public debt. The debt of the United States, less cash in the Treasury, was only $59,964,402 in 1860; in 1865 it was $2,756,431,571, and in 21 years and one month it was reduced by more than one-half. The payment of the second half of the debt involves a much smaller burden upon the people, the interest charge having been greatly lowered. The probability is that the United States will be out of debt in 12 or 15 years. But where shall Canada stand by that time ?

The contract for all the masonry work in the foundations and superstructure of the new parliament buildings, Toronto, has been let to Lionel York, of that city. The contract calls for the completion of the masonry within three years, and it will then take two years more to complete the building.

CHAPTER III.

CUTHBERT'S SECRET.

Utter silence falls never on a boys' school. Not even on the dormitories, wherein the snoring of dull stomachs and mutterings of young slumber, and the restless sprawling of limbs that makes the bedsteads creak and the bed clothes slide, are sounds audible throughout the night.

But there should be peace at prayer time.

That hour is arrived, and now we certainly find a tolerable stillness on the benches, young knees and fitful tendency toward laughter notwithstanding.

The resident ushers at the corner of each form, their fingers to their eyes, stand erect. Cuthbert kneels near his father. A breeze from the sea keeps the chestnut leaves at the windows shivering, and through the twinkling of them the faint gold-shine in the west comes and goes with the large stars in the nearer sky and the growing whiteness of moonlight on the fields.

Then to bed decorously, as becomes the recipients of the benediction.

As the boys file out through one door, Cuthbert walks out behind his father through another door.

Though watched on the whole by his father more closely than he merited, seeing that he had long ago abandoned petticoats, Cuthbert enjoyed every evening an hour and a half of liberty, what time the doctor, having dismissed his scholars to bed, withdrew to his study to relax his mind in all ways that pleased him after the tension of the day.

His little spell of evening holiday was come, and so the tails of his father's coat fluttered through the study door, Cuthbert swung down his hat and left the house.

In the young moonlight, and the glimmering memories of crimson over the dark line of the cliff, the ocean breeze, snatching land fragrance from the nestling crops, was sweet as honey.

Down the broad white road Cuthbert went swiftly, pausing once to pull a watch from his fob.

The road led straight to the town.

Coming presently to the brow of the western slope, the town lay in a fog of moonlight at his feet, the lamps threading it in veins of fire sparks, and the sea creaming a wash of white foam on the semicircle of beach.

And so forward and downward, his shadow growing smaller in his wake, and the dusky crops on either hand rippling their ears on a level with his shoulders, until a row of noble wayside elms bury him in their heavy gloom.

Here he halts.

It is a weak-hearted love that is not punctual in its promises; and what should excuse delay, when the lover waits and the summer moon shines out her sweet invitation, and the soft wind sets the trees bending stately heads to behold the coming of the tardy one!

But lo! a figure steals around the bend of the road from behind the plumage of the fields, and in a moment lips are meeting.

The embrace is a warm one, wanting in coyness, and the richer in tenderness for the want.

Something to stiffen Dr. Shaw's frill into ferocity, and to rob the finest Scotch of all flavor in his nose.

"It is barely the quarter," the girl said in a low voice; and she clasped her hands upon his arm and strained her eyes at his face. "We are both before our time."

"Be impatient, Jenny."

"Ay, but I will take most credit, for the way is all up hill for me, dear."

"How long can you give me, pretty?"

"Not above five minutes."

"Indeed; then those minutes shall be long ones."

"Not above five minutes I say, Cuthbert; and I feel the pity of it this lovely night, when the moon is so pretty, that I shall cry to go to bed."

He kissed her hand.

"Mother thinks I am gone to see Kate Oliver," she went on. "So I must not stay, for fear she should ask father to fetch me. There are troops of fishermen in the market place, and the streets are full of people, and mother does not like me to walk alone."

"Would she think you safe with your husband?"

"Ah, would not she! If father had her heart——"

"Put away your hat that you may lay your soft hair on my shoulder. Here is a dry cushion of grass with a streak of moonlight on it for me to see you in. Have a little patience while I talk to you. Mother will not be wondering yet."

So they seated themselves on the verdure, where the moonlight fell in a lance of tremulous silver, and she, dutifully removing her hat, bent her cheek to his shoulder.

Thus they sat, with no other sound to disturb them than the moaning of the sea and the rustling of the leaves over their heads.

In the moonlight a lovely woman's face takes a sad and moving beauty.

Not a sweeter face ever smiled in the love of man's eyes than Jenny's, though marred by the moonlight as a mirror for the emotion, which, in the glory of the day, gave it its [illegible] and archness, and a hundred turns of color, [illegible] grace [illegible] this wife," said he in his gentle voice.

"My [illegible] seen closely pressed to-day by my "I have l[illegible] at him on a scent that puzzled father. "He said to me," Cuthbert went date the alteration in you from the [illegible] ear, your return from London.' He draws [illegible] my you see, dear. He is dreadfully close at [illegible] heels. Still his notion is odd, seeing that have not moped since as I moped before I went that trip."

"How like our adventures at home are! Only to-day mother came up to me and took my ear in her hand, and said, 'Jenny, Jenny, I will squeeze hard if thou art not honest. I hear you sighing in your sleep just like my old schoolmate Sally Mattocks did when the silly wench brought trouble upon herself by listening to a gypsy woman's lies. Father watches you closely, and I know him very well as a man who never troubles himself to stare, unless there be something to see. What is it, silly?' I pulled my ear away and made it burn to run from her, and I laughed that she might think her talk nonsense. But oh, my dear, I could not help crying just two or three tears. I do not fear mother—indeed, she would be very proud of my own, and love him for his own sweet sake and make him her boast, as I know she would; for often father tells her that she has made her gossips and fibbers, though what he means by that you shall tell me, as I have not one little bit of thy cleverness in my head, sweet—but father's eyes when he is angry make me shiver. What bold things a girl will do for love. And yet it does not make her brave."

She put her hand over her eyes and peeped at him through her fingers; not for the coquetry of it, but that she might not lose sight of him for a moment.

"Jenny, I will tell you what it is—there is no help for it but honesty. And that we need not be afraid of."

"Oh, no, indeed! The Lord forbid. We are both truly honest, I thank God."

"I will begin with your father, Jenny. That is my resolve; and one's own wishes are the easiest way, love. To-morrow evening I will see Mr. Stranglield and tell him we are married."

"To-morrow evening!"

It was a long way off for their next meeting, but very close for bitter business.

"It is not too soon!" he said, soothingly.

"No, it is not too soon," she answered, with a little shudder. "But I wish it were over—I wish he knew."

"Every moment of delay," he continued, "is a new wrong to you, my pet; and surely I am no loving husband, Jenny, if I wrong you. What excuse have I for delay? So far it has been cowardice. But I can end it if I choose, and to-morrow night it is done. Will your father be at home?"

"I dread to say yes. I shall not dare to face him."

"Jenny, you must not be so timid. You are not alone."

"But I can hear him crying, 'Jenny, Jenny, come down from your room!' with his face like wood, and the angry stoop of his head, which he will lift in flames, as I saw him once when he charged his niece Martha, who is dead, with an evil deed."

"This is no evil deed, my pretty."

"Did not I just now say we were honest? In my heart I feel we are; yet what should my conscience answer if father calls me deceitful?"

"But, you see, there are so many kinds of deceit. There is one kind that injures people and another kind that injures no one. Whom have we injured? Dearest, there is nothing to fear."

"I cannot help fearing my father," she continued, in a trembling voice, "for though he is very stern, he loves me; and I dread the thoughts his love will fill him with when he hears that I have deceived him and mother."

"The worst is not so bad as the dread of it, dear."

"He is so terribly religious."

"Ay, a Baptist; and my papa is a Tory Churchman! And we are to be impaled on their prejudices! Thank the Lord, old men are scant of breath, and when their lungs are empty, young men may——"

"Hark! here are the coast guards."

The tramp of men, deadened by the smothering dust of the road, fell upon their ears; and soon a little company of dark figures, with the moonshine kindling silver stars in the polished points of their weapons, turned the corner and strode sturdily, in silence, up the hill.

"It should be half-past eight," said Jenny. "I must be going, Bertie. I must be going, indeed. Good-night; say good-night to me, Bertie."

They both rose, their [illegible] clasped.

"To-morrow night, a half-past eight, watch for me at your window, Jenny. My mind is resolved. I will speak to your father first, and then tell mine the story. We shall sleep the sweeter for it. A clear conscience before all things, and that will come by honoring ourselves."

"Yes, it is right," she whispered with a little shiver. "Kiss me, and say good-night."

He strained her in his arms, and she went away, but slackened her pace and fled back to him out of the moonlight. Then, slipping from his lips, she ran across the road and was gone.

THE SALONS OF MONTE CARLO.

A Visit to the Famous Casino—Among the Visitors—Unfortunate.

As the old Greek armies marched to battle, so the infatuated players lose their last Napoleon to the sound of flutes and soft recorders. The band plays in the pavilion on one of the terraces back of the casino, overlooked by a balcony, to which the ruined can retire and soothe their lacerated feelings by listening to the delicious harmonies. No grander concert room can be imagined; the splendid casino, the gardens, the terraced hillside, the Mediterranean stretching its blue expanse of water in front and the high bare hills behind, which complete the vast ampitheatre. Nothing has been omitted at Monaco which can render its special form of vice attractive or diffuse a rosate tint over its miseries.

On this occasion there were perhaps 100 visitors. There was not the usual babel of tongues, though nearly all modern langages could be heard in the gaming salon. The fashionable world was not largely represented, though some rich English women were present. As for the majority of women, though generally well dressed, they were not of classes commonly deemed respectable. An old couple were passing from one to another of the four or five tables that were kept tolerably busy, basarding a small piece here and there. The modiste confided to me with signs of emotion the fact that she had lost 25 francs. The commercial traveler had won 12 francs, and had heroically resolved to keep it, though, as it was still early in the afternoon, it was impossible to tell what he might do later. A blonde English woman at one of the tables was said to have won 10,000 francs since mid-day.

There was an air of decorum about the place, people speaking in low tones, the principal part of the noise that broke the stillness coming from the croupiers. About the tables all ages were represented; some with piles of gold before them, which were rapidly diminishing; others with a little hoard, of which but a few coins remained. Among the care-worn women were some who had evidently earned the money they were losing by hard labor. One of these I saw afterwards, a poor woman of Marseilles, who had lost all and was begging enough of the management to take her home. On the balcony listening to the band were men and women with faces so woe-begone that it was hard to get they bid adieu to hope as well as fortune.—Paris Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

Trying to Console Her Mamma.

A lady in Cincinnati not long ago was stricken with consumption. She lingered and lingered, until at last she grew weary of bearing pain and suffering and wished to die. "If I am going to die I wish it would be soon!" was her frequent fretful exclamation.

One day she was very ill, but toward nightfall she recovered, though she was still in great agony. Her little girl, seeing the look on her face, came up with this remark, intended to be at once consoling and sympathetic:

"Don't be sorry, mamma, perhaps you'll die to-morrow."

The mother of course did not take the child's words in the sense in which they were meant.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE WELL-KNOWN

SPECIALIST,

Proprietor & Consulting Physician of the Only Private Dispensary on the Pacific Coast, now permanently located at 132, 134, Third Street, Portland, Or.

DR. VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 4000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time. Ulcers, Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effects. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly Drug, and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without Mercury.

is a graduate of a regular Medical College, is well known over the United States and Canada by and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. VanMonciscar addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefit, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine, like all other sciences, is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advances by a combination of remedies of great curative power. Dr. VanMonciscar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief, but permanent cures.

YOUNG MEN

who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretions showing some of the following symptoms: Nervious and Physical Debility, Impotency (incapacity) Lost Manhood, Absence of the erection, Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of ideas, Dull and Loss of Brilliancy to the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face, Loss of Energy, and Frequency of Urinating. You may be in the first stages, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and sham modesty prevent you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man, endowed with genius, has permitted his case to run on and on, until nature sucked his intellect, and finally death claimed its victim. Remember that "Procrastination is the thief of time." So lay aside your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know you fear, and find permanent relief for an ailment that has made day a drudgery and night a horror. Do not let quacks impose on you. Consult a man in good standing in the social world, of prominence in the world and to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings, the seeds of which were sown during moments of thoughtlessness. Young man turn and gaze upon the pale specter, and let it be a warning for proof to substantiate this fact. Oh! could he restore the arm of Fate, or had he his life to live again, then I could plead to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back to the much cherished counsels of a loving father, and remember what you are to-day. Though you may for the present fill your station in society, the time is an inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will, like a flash, depart, leaving you a stranded wreck—desolate, forsaken and lost, to embrace the opportunity and enjoy life and happiness longer. If you claim to be a man, act your part manly. Do not console yourself with the thought that Nature will help itself, for in doing so you not only fan the flame, but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember, "Large oaks from little acorns grow." "Little ills germinate fatal diseases."

Middle-aged Men,

married or single, who are prematurely old as a result of excesses or youthful follies, and who are troubled by too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and finding a deposit of ropy sediment in the urine, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear of the color who first be of [illegible] or milkish hue, and again changing to a dark or turbid appearance, causing nervous debility and loss of vitality. Remember, this is the second stage of seminal Weakness. In all such cases a perfect cure is guaranteed, and a radical restoration of the Genito-Urinary Organs. All interviews and letters are strictly confidential. Medicines packed so as not to excite curiosity, and sent by express, if full description of case is given; but one personal interview is all I ask people to [illegible]. Patients treated by mail or monthly. Call or write. Consultation free. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays, 10 A. M. to 2 P. M.

GIRL KIDNAPPED.

A Chinese girl, aged 15 years, is supposed to have been kidnapped on Saturday evening, and is now being held for immoral purposes. A reward of $50 is offered for her recovery.

MR. DUCK RESIGNS!

And Takes His Departure from the Finance Department.

Hon. Mr. Duck tendered his resignation as Finance Minister a few days ago, and to-day bade farewell to his colleagues, packed up his carpet bag and took his departure. We have reason to believe that the duties of the office have been assumed by the Provincial Secretary Robson, and that the hopes of the member for Esquimalt have been, for the present at least, dashed to the ground.

A BUMPTIOUS ANNOUNCEMENT

The following announcement is from the Colonist of Sunday morning: "Mr. Higgins left for the east this morning. At Winnipeg he will meet Mayor Fell, and with him will visit the chief cities of the eastern provinces, where they will examine the working of the sewerage, police, public market and other systems connected with the various municipalities, with the object of introducing extensive civic reforms here." The public of Victoria will rejoice to know that "extensive civic reforms" are about to be introduced, and that the visit of Mr. Higgins to the east is for the purpose of carefully "examining municipal institutions" there with a view to their introduction here. It would be a pity, however, if this self-imposed duty should prevent the great civic reformer from attending to private business, and we sincerely trust Mayor Fell will take his share of the work. When there is nothing more to reform, like Cincinnatus, the philanthropical Higgins will probably return to his desk in the Colonist office.

ALBERNI.

Our indefatigable government guide, Mr. W. M. Halpenny, returned from Alberni on Saturday. He left Victoria with four land-hunters, two Coleman brothers, Christopher Saul, and J. De Boux—on the steamer Hope, which made the trip from Victoria to the head of Barclay Sound, a distance of 136 miles, in the short space of eighteen hours. Each of the party located land, and were highly pleased with the settlement and its prospects. The settlers are anxious for more frequent communication with Victoria, and would like to see the Hope oftener than they do. The new wagon road from Englishman's river to Alberni will be completed in November. Mr. Fraser has only about half a mile to complete on Cameron Lake, and Mr. McFesson is coming down on the Alberni side of the mountain at a rapid rate. The road will be a very good one.

THE BOAT RACE.

Now that this event is settled and a thing of the past, Mr. Wm. Paine, the winner, still remains the champion sculler of B. C. The young gentleman will now rest easy on his well earned laurels, and while engaged in mercantile pursuits has decided to eschew the oar and future challenges. When not engaged in business, Mr. Paine will be most happy to hear from any rising and ever-ambitious oarsman.

Mr. Charles Bush evidently under-rated Mr. Paine's abilities as an oarsman, but rowed a plucky race, and has the sympathy of every true sport in his defeat. The championship will probably remain Mr. Paine's for some time to come.

Mr. Paine, with several friends, left to-day for Sooke to spend a short time bird and deer hunting.

MUSIC IN THE AIR.

Our dramatic and musical amateurs are going to join forces and there is a prospect this season of listening to some fine operas and concerts. Why not patronize local efforts and home talent, often more creditable and always more interesting and spicy than the imported article? Besides the cash proceeds remain right here, being devoted to our charitable institutions. The Dramatic Society has already held preliminary meetings, while the Orchestral Union invites its members and all who wish to become such to apply to the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Sifton, or attend in person at a meeting which takes place Tuesday, the 19th, at 8 p. m., at the office of the President J. J. Austin, Esq., in Bastion street.

S. GREER AND THE C. P. R.

Mr. S. Greer, the owner of 128 acres of valuable land on English Bay, has disposed of 100 lots at $20 each, the proceeds of which are to defend his suit against the C. P. R. The case has been postponed from week to week and necessitates constant traveling between Vancouver and Victoria on Mr. Greer's part. It will come up in the Supreme Court some time this week for another hearing. If anyone wishes to know the trials and tribulations attending the defence of a suit against a mighty railroad corporation consult Mr. Greer. He's had experience enough to turn one's hair gray.

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

Although four days have elapsed since the elections in Quebec, the complete returns have not yet reached this city. Between the telegraph companies and the Associated Press the news service of late has been about as wretched as it well could be. A private dispatch, received yesterday by Mr. P. Parkin, says:

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—The Globe claims a working majority in Quebec for Mercier; the Mail claims a tie.

THE RIFLE.

The competition on Saturday, between the artillery and rifles, for the possession of the silver bugle presented by Major-Gen. Laurie, which was won by Victoria at New Westminster, occurred on Saturday. The ranges were 200, 400 and 600 yards. The artillery scored 364 and the rifles 340. The bugle will remain in possession of Capt. Nicholles' battery.

THE DOMESTIC

Took the first and only prize awarded to sewing machines in all points of merit by competent judges at the Provincial Exhibition Oct. 9th. Special prizes for work done on the Domestic; best plain sewing; best chenille embroidery; best arrasene embroidery; best etching. T. W. Fletcher, agent.

A MEDICAL COMMISSION.

An Ottawa telegram of the 13th says: Mr. McIntyre, counsel for Sproule, an American citizen under sentence for murder at Victoria, B. C., has been notified that a medical commission, at the urgent request of the Imperial authorities, will be appointed to enquire into the mental condition of the prisoner.

THE CONCORDIA.

In accordance with the demand of the public for a first class entertainment, and the consequent expenses attended thereon, the management of this popular resort beg to announce that the price of admission hereafter will be 25 cents, for which the public will always find full value received in a refined entertainment, given by able and talented artists.

FOR ALBERNI.

The steamer Hope will leave to-night at 6 o'clock for Alberni, under charter by a Chinese firm. Twenty-five Chinese miners, Chinese freight, and some freight for the settlement will compose her cargo. Evidently the Chinese make a living gold-digging on the west coast.

CRACKMEN'S WORK.

The safe of Graff & McFall, Goldendale, W. T., was cracked by burglars on Saturday last. About $800 was secured. The robbers escaped.

RUSSELL VS. RUSSELL.

An Action for Divorce in the Supreme Court Before Mr. Justice Gray To-day.

The case of John Joshua Russell vs. Gracie Russell, an action for divorce, came up in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Gray to-day. Mr. Theodore Davie appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. S. P. Mills for the defendant. The defendant, Mrs. Russell, was in court with her child, a pretty little boy about one year old. The following special jury was sworn in: R. Lipsett, D. Dale, John Sluggett, J. R. Mitchell, P. T. Johnson, Walter Shears, Robt. Ward, John Durant.

Mr. Theo. Davie, in opening the case, said the action was brought on the ground of adultery. The petitioner was married to the respondent on January 30th, 1882, and they had issue of the marriage two children. In 1885 Mr. Russell discovered infidelity on the part of his wife. An action for divorce was brought but fell through from insufficient proof. This proof was now forthcoming and was the basis of the present action.

Jennie Davis and Bertha Baker, keepers of houses of ill-fame, swore that Mrs. Russell had called at their houses on several occasions, and to the latter said she was a very unhappy and miserable woman.

Jeremiah Westaver, who lives on Oswego street testified that Mr. Russell brought Mrs. Russell to his house on the 6th of August, 1885 and made arrangements for her board, paying $37.50 per month. She remained there until Oct. 22, when she went to Driscoll's, returning again on the 10th March, 1886. Mrs. R. often stayed out as late as one o'clock in the morning, and was frequently seen in men's company. The witness related several incidents of a revolting character, pointing unmistakably to but one conclusion, the details of which are unfit for publication. The names of several well-known citizens were given, but for the sake of their relatives and friends are not here repeated. He further testified to finding the remnants of a letter and of a post office registration receipt addressed to a correspondent in Mrs. Russell's room. Letter was produced, and appeared to be an account for service rendered of $28.

Thos. Chadwick, registration clerk in the post office, produced the post office registration book showing that on May 11th Mrs. Russell registered a letter addressed to the same individual, and that the letter was delivered.

J. J. Austin testified that he had paid Mrs. Russell $8 week on Mr. Russell's account for a period of fourteen weeks.

The case was still proceeding as we go to press.

FREIGHT BUSINESS IS BOOMING.

Unless one is actually aware of the large amount of freight that is received in Tacoma from the east, via the Northern Pacific railroad, they can hardly believe that the shipments are so large and increase at such a rapid rate. The freight warehouse upon the wharf has been packed for several days, and the freight clerks have never been so busy as at present. Thursday evening an unusually large train, consisting of twenty-four heavily laden cars, arrived in Tacoma from the east, and the return trains are also well filled with hops and other products. A train of fifteen cars of bonded goods is expected in a few days from Canadian points, all of which will be shipped to Victoria. The shipments via the Northern Pacific route to British Columbia seem to be on the increase.—Ledger.

We make corsets a specialty. Having rarely less than 500 pairs in stock we can at all times offer the largest variety to be found in the city. LAKE SUPERIOR SCENERY.

Mr. Cook, the Times Philadelphia correspondent, in pushing his way westward across the Canadian continent, would seem to have learned many things. Among his recent letters, he speaks of the scenic attractions of the country along the north shore of Lake Superior. "Nowhere else," he tells us, "upon the inland waters of North America is there such grand scenry," while he has formed no mean opionion of its timber and mineral wealth.
